

ABOUT THE STATE
HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

On one morning last week 75 packages of Mayflowers were sent from Bellows Falls by parcel post.

Rev. Frank De Frees Miller, formerly rector of St. Matthew's church at Enosburg Falls, died April 27 in Livingston, Cal.

The ladies' hospital aid of Rutland cleared over $545 for the hospital by a house-to-house canvass and from theatre matinees.

Hollis W. Blair has withdrawn from the present from the photography business, which for some years he has operated at North Troy and the White Mountains in the summer, and in Florida winters, and has engaged with the Blair Veneer company as manager in one of its departments.

As an evidence of the increased value of Vermont farms it is stated that a tract of 900 acres in northern Vermont bought four years ago, has been divided into three farms and sold recently for prices aggregating $52,500. This is said to be considerably more than twice the price paid in 1912.

Miss Florence M. Wellman, who has been supervisor of the grades in the Brattleboro schools for eight years and before that taught in the grades six years, has been appointed as superintendent of the district. She will have no control over the high school, of which Edgar B. Smith is principal. Her salary will be $1,500 a year.

Emerson W. Peake has just completed 27 years of continuous service as caretaker of the premises of the late Col. George W. Hooker of Brattleboro. Owing to the sale of the premises and breaking up of the home since the death of Col. Hooker, Mr. Peake's labors there are ended. He went to Brattleboro from South Randolph.

Mrs. Louis Welch of Burlington and Frank Bocash, her brother of Shoreham, met a few days ago for the first time in 30 years. During December last, Mrs. Welch read in the obituary notices of Burlington papers that a man named Bocash had died in the Mary Fletcher hospital. She asked a friend to write the postmaster at Shoreham and ask if they were any relatives, as her name originally was Bocash, the result being that she has found a brother.

During Sunday afternoon's electric storm, the lightning played queer pranks at the home of G. L. Colburn in Mount Holly and did several hundred dollars' worth of damage, two bolts entering the house, passed downward to the living room, and tore rugs and carpets into shreds, then leaving the house by way of telephone wires. Mrs. Colburn and a guest were stunned somewhat but were passing through the rooms to see what damage was done when a second bolt struck the house, tearing away the northwest corner of the building. Furniture was broken up, lath and plaster were torn away from the walls and one of the gills of the house was shattered, also four or five of the floor timbers were broken. The interior of the house was badly wrecked.

Arbor Day at Norwich University.

Norwich university observed Arbor day in a most enthusiastic and efficient manner. Several weeks in advance two thousand trees were ordered from the state forestry service, and arrangements were made for securing a number of maps and other native trees. Committees were appointed for the purpose of locating trees and supervising the planting. The entire corps and members of the faculty turned out on Arbor day, and the work progressed in the most systematic and effective way. About 2500 trees of all kinds were planted. This is the first time that Arbor day has been observed at Norwich university in this manner, and no doubt the monuments planted will offer very pleasant recollections to the future alumni of the institution for a great many years to come.

Vermont Republicans Urged to Use Stickers.

In response to inquiries, Stanley C. Wilson, chairman of the Republican state committee, to-day issued the following statement:

At the primary election to be held on May 16 no names of Republican candidates for president will appear on the printed ballot, no petition for any Republican candidate having been filed with the secretary of state. Republican voters should therefore express their preference by writing in the Republican name of the man they desire for candidate for president and then marking a cross (x) in the square at the right of the name so written. A sticker bearing a printed name may be used instead of writing the name, but the cross (x) must be made by the voter himself in the proper square in either case in order to have the vote counted. I understand the above is in accord with an opinion of Attorney General Barber rendered to the secretary of state at a recent date.

Middlebury College Statistics.

A compilation of the occupations of the fathers of the students of Middlebury college has been made, resulting as follows:

Why Not?

Private Jones, according to Tit-Bits, was summoned to appear before his captain.

"Jones," said the officer, frowning darkly, "this gentleman complains that you have killed his dog."

"A dastardly trick," interrupted the owner of the dog, "to kill a defenseless animal that would harm no one!"

"Not much defenseless about him," chimed in the private, heatedly. "He bit pretty freely into my leg, so I ran my bayonet into him."

"Nonsense!" answered the owner angrily. "He was a docile creature. Why did you not defend yourself with the butt of your rifle?"

"Why didn't he bite me with his tail?" asked Private Jones, with spirit.—Youth's Companion.
